Did You know that one of the biggest kayak, canoe and paddling equipment manufacturers in Europe is Estonian?

Tiesitkö, että yksi Euroopan suurimmista kajakien, kanoottien ja soutuvälineiden valmistajista ovat virolaiset?

Знаете ли вы, что эстонцы едва ли не крупнейшие в Европе строители каяков, каноэ, а также же производители снаряжение для гребли?

Kas teadsid, et ühed Euroopa suurimatest kajakid, kanuu ja aerutamisvarustuse tootjatest on eestlased?

The Estonian kayak manufacturer Tahe Outdoors operates under five different brand names and has a sales network that covers more than 35 countries worldwide. Their kayaks are well known and prized all over the world. The development and production of these kayaks takes place here, in Estonia, using the most advanced technology and the best materials available.

In 2011, DSM (advanced resins manufacturer) in co-operation with Take Outdoors won the innovation award at JEC Shows (Paris and Shanghai) and at KOMPOZYT-EXPO (Poland). That same year, brothers and owners of Take Outdoors, Marek Pohla and Janek Pohla, were finalists at the Ernst and Young “Entrepreneurs of the Year” awards in Estonia.

25TH ANNIVERSARY

It has been 25 years since the two competitive paddlers started Tahe Outdoors. At the time, they had no experience in designing kayak hulls; however, they did have determination and friends. Today, Tahe Outdoors has years of experience, technological innovation and skills in producing the best-quality water sports equipment and kayaks. This year, Tahe Outdoors is celebrating its 25th birthday.

NORTH POLE EXPEDITION

Arctic explorers Timo Palo and Audun Tholfsen were dropped at the geographical North Pole, where they started their epic journey back home. They travelled approximately 1,600 kilometres during the 72 days of the expedition using Tahe Marine Lifestyle kayaks as their sleighs. Of that, about 400 kilometres was paddling.
